

PRESS RELEASE 6

13/09/2012

GOOD WEATHER FORECAST FOR THE RALLY PRÍNCIPE

The weather forecast for the two days of the rally is good, according to the National Meteorological Agency of the Agricultural, Food and Environment Ministry of Spain, the sky will be clear on both the Friday the 14th and the Saturday the 15th of September, with some light fog at the end of the day and temperatures between 11 and 24 degrees Celsius.

On Saturday clear sky and temperatures between 14 and 27 Celsius degrees are also expected.

According to the meteorological site www.weather.com the forecast is for clear skies for Friday and Saturday and temperatures between 13 and 25 Celsius degrees.

A similar forecast comes from the www.meteoasturias.com site, so it looks almost certain that the weather will be good throughout the whole rally.

ACPA Press Departament

Rally Príncipe de Asturias